ADAMUS MEDIA, ADVERTISING AND MARKETING FIRM, MOVES INTO NEW OFFICE IN WILLIAMSTOWN, N.J.

WILLIAMSTOWN, N.J., January 2, 2008 – Adamus Media, a strategic marketing and advertising agency in the South Jersey (Gloucester County) area is moving into a brand new office. The location of the building is on the north Black Horse Pike at the intersection of Black Horse Pike and Lake Avenue.

The construction of the building was completed in early November and the first few units became available in late December of 2007. Adamus Media, among several other businesses, is in the process of moving into the building. The agency's new office is expected to be fully operational by the end of the second week in January. New address is 1035 N. Black Horse Pike, Suite Two.

The agency's first Williamstown location, right off Winslow Road, was quickly outgrown and after just two years the firm realized its need for more space. "In 2006 we learned about the new construction of professional office space right here in town and we thought this could be a great possibility for us," said Sylwia Majewski, president of Adamus Media.
